About MWGL-SER

The Midwest-Great Lakes Chapter of SER promotes the science and practice of ecological restoration to assist with the recovery and management of degraded ecosystems within the Midwestern and Great Lakes regions of the United States. We connect local resources and partners by facilitating dialogue among groups and individuals interested in ecological restoration. We also provide educational opportunities to foster an interdisciplinary understanding of and interest in concepts and methods of ecological restoration for specialists and laypersons

2025 Annual Meeting

ABOUT THE MEETING

Our annual meetings have become known as excellent and exciting venue for ecological restoration. Our past 15 meetings have attracted between 95 and 230 attendees from 30 states, as well as Canada, Colombia, and Norway.

The typical structure of our meeting includes a poster session and sponsorship reception, a keynote address, a plenary sessions, oral presentations, workshops, symposia, and offsite field trips.

The theme of this years meeting is "Engaging Agricultural and Rural Communities in Ecological Restoration". Our primary meeting goal is to work to educate and engage practitioners, landmanagers, and laypeople in rural and agricultural ecological restoration.

Event

Highlight

To educate participants about current and future ecological restoration practices

To bring together all who are interested in ecological restoration

To encourage collaboration in the field of ecological restoration

To experience the work of restoration first hand through local fieldtrips
